1.5. Design Considerations. Ensure designs recognize the need for flexibility so that facilities can be adapted to a changing educational program with minimum requirement for additional capital investment. Where feasible within the educational program, general purpose classrooms should be configured in a manner that enable implementation of multiple level, cooperative, individualized, and team teaching by utilizing acoustically appropriate movable walls in lieu of fixed partitions. Where such schemes are used, ensure to provide appropriate means of personnel circulation between spaces when movable walls and partitions are in the closed position.
